

The Castle Comfort Team Goes From Strength to Strength

This Autumn has seen the arrival at CCC of a new team member who, after joining National Westminster Bank from school 26 years ago and progressing to Newcastle Branch Business Manager has dramatically embarked upon a new and exciting career.

Ann Bruce, pictured here, will be a tremendous asset to the growing mobility products company which was formed just 4 years ago. Ironically, the firm's headquarters (containing Ami's new office) is at Nat West's former branch building at Wolstanton - quite a homecoming!

She is already enjoying having a varied and wide number of responsibilities including the marketing of the Company to the professional sectors, although importantly Ann will be at the helm of Castle Comfort's dynamic and ambitious franchise plan to become a UK-wide brand name during the next few years. The Clarion offers her best wishes and also pass on regards from many at Nat West, who will have their fingers crossed for their friend and popular former colleague.

NEWS TO SMILE AT

YOU'RE A POLICEMAN? - SEW WHAT!

By Becky Shipley (14) Stand-in Clarion Reporter

Castle Comfort Centre customer CONSTANCE LEADBEATER 87 of Basford was spotted driving her Vaya-Bicn scooter flat out at 4 mph through The Brampton. Nothing unusual perhaps, but she was, at the same time, juggling a ball of wool and demonstrating her skill with her safety, a Newcastle Police patrol motorcyclist pulled alongside and shouted 'Madam - pull over'. Octogenarian Connie didn't brake and just wanted to continue on her way ... so true to the form of a lady never short of a quick response, raised the knitting

IT'S NEVER TOO LATE FOR A LAUGH

Bertram M, we shall call him, from Harriseahead, kept CCC's showroom staff entertained recently by reciting the latest experience with his wife of six decades. Emily, aged 87, a touch younger than Bert was awaiting his return late one night from a tonsil-moistening session with his domino mates at the Nag's Head.

'Bert darling,' she welcomed him 'we are in our twilight years and it's lime to let you in on a lifetime secret always kept from you until this moment.'

The tired but curious husband urged her to tell all so she first instructed him to produce a small wooden chest hidden away at the base of the wardrobe. Emily asked Bert to unscrew the lid and the amazed husband discovered three eggs sitting on top of neatly stacked cash bundles totalling £100,000.

'Three eggs,' he announced - 'what on earth is the significance of that?'

'Well,' Emily declared, 'each time during our marriage you got in from the pub after midnight staggering as you are now, I marked the occasion by placing one egg in the chest...'

'But dear' interrupted Bertram, 'three times in 60 years of marriage isn't so bad is it? - and what about all this money?'

'Inevitably'...she concluded... 'each time I'd got a dozen eggs, I sold them!'
